

DHWA Investment Update 2008

Vol. # 3

WWWD (What Would Warren Do?)

During these unique financial times, we came across an article that we believe you will find both interesting and informative.

Warren Buffett is a household name, known for his astute investment management of Berkshire Hathaway, as well as being at the top of Forbes "Richest" lists. Late last week Buffet wrote a guest column for The New York Times. In it, he shared that he manages his own personal portfolio in addition to the billions at Berkshire. Up until last week, that portfolio has always owned 100% US Government bonds. Guess how he is now changing that portfolio, and why?

Visit http://www.nytimes.com/2008/10/17/opinion/17buffett.html?\_r=2&ref=opinion&oref=slogin to read his interesting column.

Remember, if you have any questions during these turbulent times, please contact us.

Sincerely,

Dixon Hughes Wealth Advisors